Art Unit: 1711

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 9-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of U.S. Patent No. 6,506,832. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the reference patent claims are directed to a process for making an emulsion, and the claims of this application are directed to the emulsion resulting from that process. A product is obvious over the process for making the product.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Howell.

Howell discloses stable emulsions (col. 2, lines 17-20) of blocked polyisocyanates that are 15-99.64 wt. % water, 0.1-10 wt. % surfactant (col. 4, lines 20-28) and 0.25-3 wt. % colloid (col. 8, line 50). He discloses the same polyisocyanates (bottom col. 6), the same blocking agents (middle col. 7), the same surfactants (bottom col. 7-top col. 8) and the same thickeners or colloids (col. 8, lines 50-58). When a reference teaches a product that appears to be the same as a product set forth in a product-by-process claim (process of controlling viscosities of the prepolymer in relation to the initial mixture of water, surfactant and thickener) although produced by a different process, the burden of proof is shifted to the applicant (see In re Marosi, 218 USPQ 289 and MPEP2113). When a reference discloses all the limitations of a claim except a property (particle size), and the examiner can't determine if the property is inherent, the burden is shifted to the applicant as in In re Fitzgerald, 205 USPQ 594 and MPEP 2112-2112.02). Because the emulsions of Howell are stable, it appears that the particle size is small. Gooch teaches that stability depends on particle size (col. 3, lines 20-30), and Howell discloses the use of equipment capable of making small particle size emulsions (col. 8, line 40).
